Dear Capt Armstrong
I had intended
writing to thank you long ago for your nice letter telling me about my husband. Please forgive my neglect.

The fact is I have been very ill, but I have not let him know. I was so afraid he would not take leave
if he knew.

It is such a blessing to feel he will be coming soon, tho I fear a great disappoint! Whim

not to find me
fit. We are having very foggy beastly
weather, which I hope will change
before the 11th.

Your mother wrote
me such nice
letters, but I am not able to write

much. Excuse more,

& the best of luck.

Don't let my husband

know I'm not well.

Yours sincerely

Ania Williams
